Five mammoth steam pumps, with a capacfive mammoth steam pumps, with a capacfive mammoth steam pumps, with a capacfive of 8,500 gallons per minute, were putaboard the Cepheus this morning, and they were run until seven feet of water had been ejected from the hold.

The divers went down and spent a greater part of the morning shutting up the compariments and at low tide, late this afternoon, the pumps will be again set to work.

It was denied at the iron Steamboat offices this morning that the Pegasus had collided with a sail boat. On the trip to the cityfiter leaving the Iron Pier at 8 o'clock last night, the man on lookout discovered as sail boat without lights a short distance ahead and gave warning to the camain. The Pegasus was stopped before it came up to the sailboat, so the officials say, and the only excitement was the result of the five or six occupants getting scared on secount of being rocked by the roll from the Pegasus.

The Company has been in difficulty for a NEW YORK'S ARMOR WEAKENED.

Change in the Way of Setting Plates on the Cruiser's Turrets. INT ASSOCIATED PRESS. PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15 .- The efficiency of the armor of the cruiser New York, built at Cramp's shipperd, and now being prepared for sea, is said to have been considerably lessened by the placing of vertical armor plates in her turrets, or barbettes, instead of inclined ones, as the contract calls for.

The excuse for the change given by the Naval Advisory Board is that more room would be taken up by inclined than vertical armor, and that there would be less space for gunners inside of the turrets.

The New York is being pushed as fast as possible at Cramp's yard, but the delay in finishing the needed steel, through stries and other causes, will keep her at least two years at the wharf after the builders are through with her.
